

Abstract

The present invention relates to drug release systems which employ shape memory materials.